The Breeding Birds of North Wales

Adar Nythu Gogledd Cymru

Edited by Anne Brenchley, Geoff Gibbs,
Rhion Pritchard and Ian M. Spence

Framed by the magnificent and internationally important coastline from the Dyfi round Anglesey to the Dee, North Wales, which includes the mountains of the Snowdonia National Park, is a very special place for birds. In excess of 700 contributors submitted more than 200,000 records over five summers to produce this fascinating atlas of the area's breeding birds.

Lavishly illustrated with stunning photographs this beautiful full colour book includes fully bilingual introductory chapters, a Welsh language précis alongside each English language species account and a wealth of recording data, maps and tables.

O'r traethau gwych, sydd o bwysigrwydd rhyngwladol, yn ymestyn o aber afon Dyfi heibio Môn hyd at aber afon Dyfrdwy, hyd at fynyddoedd Parc Cenedlaethol Eryri, mae Gogledd Cymru yn lle arbennig iawn ar gyfer adar. Casglwyd mwy na 200,000 o gofnodion dros bum haf gan dros 700 o gyfranwyr i greu atlas cyfareddol o'r adar sy'n nythu yn yr ardal.

Yn llawn o luniau gwych, mae'r llyfr lliwgar yma'n cynnwys penodau rhagarweiniol hollol ddwyieithog, crynodeb yn Gymraeg o bob hanes rhywogaeth yn Saesneg, a chyfoeth o ddata, mapiau a thablau.
